

78th American Convention of Meat Processors and Suppliers' Exhibition

July 20-22, 2017
Hyatt Regency | Lexington Convention Center
Lexington, Kentucky

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION
MEAT PROCESSORS

If your company has products and services for small and very small meat and poultry establishments, then you should exhibit at the 78th American Convention of Meat Processors & Suppliers' Exhibition!

The AAMP Convention is the most economical way to promote your products to hundreds of smaller firms. Meet your customers and prospects face-to-face in Lexington, Kentucky. You can expect operators/owners (and decision-makers) from the following industry segments: slaughtering (federal, state & custom); packing; meat; poultry & seafood processing; wholesaling; HRI fabricating; retail & supermarket; catalog businesses; home food provisioning; catering; and deli.

At this convention, you will meet owners and decision-makers from thriving companies. You will meet operators who are the choosers and buyers for their operations. Today's smaller operations are diversifying. They are attending the AAMP Convention to discover more opportunities to improve their businesses. They are open to new ideas, new techniques and new products.

The attendees at AAMP's Convention think business and education first — that means you will have an important place in the program. AAMP is deeply committed to providing educational opportunities for owners of small meat and poultry businesses. The educational sessions and demonstrations will be varied, practical, in-depth programs loaded with take-home ideas. These seminars, combined with your exhibit and those of your industry colleagues, will provide the varied educational experience small meat and poultry business owners are seeking when they attend the AAMP Convention.

Who exhibits at the AAMP Convention? Exhibitors represent a cross section of major meat, poultry and food industry suppliers who serve smaller food companies. Firms exhibiting in Lexington will feature: processing equipment; packaging supplies and equipment; technical and computer services; deli, mail order and catering supplies; marketing aids; transportation, chilling and building information; laboratory services and testing equipment; consultants in various food processing areas; and more!

Exhibition hours are strictly reserved for our Exhibitors.

Educational sessions and competing activities are suspended during exhibit hours. Exhibit hall activities such as cash drawings, competitions, demos, etc., are planned to keep processors coming back daily.

If you want to visit the Exhibition... Industry supplier companies that do not exhibit at the show are permitted to send representatives to the AAMP Convention. Registration fees are as follows: AAMP member supplier company — $545 and additional persons are registered at $75 each; non-member supplier company — $845 with additional persons being registered at $100 each; $250 for a one-day-only pass. Non-exhibiting representatives are prohibited from doing business in the Exhibit Hall. Call AAMP toll-free, (877) 877-0168, to discuss your visit and to request a special registration form.

Exhibit Hours

The American Association of Meat Processors (AAMP) is North America's largest meat and poultry trade organization headquartered in Elizabethtown, Pennsylvania. AAMP represents nearly 1200 small and very small packers, processors, wholesalers, home food service businesses, retailers, deli and catering operators, and their suppliers. The Association, located two hours from Washington, D.C., actively represents its members at the federal level of government. It also provides education, resource tools, and business management assistance to the independent segment of the meat industry. The Association has been serving the meat, food and poultry industry since 1939.
